SUSTAINABILITY

At Okan, we strive to build sustainability into everything we do.

Respect for Nature

Okan is a company that accepts the responsibilities of industrialization with its mind and heart. This can make us act with great respect for the balance of nature in every step of our production. We care about every detail, from the journey of our preferred fabrics to the chemicals in our dyes. Because this is an indication of our gratitude to the Dame nature and we are working in harmony with the analysis of international organizations for this.

The standards set by leading companies coming together for climate and environmental protection became part of Okan's optimization goals. Thanks to CPI2's innovative approaches we have achieved a reduction in energy consumption by up to 8%.

The Higg Index

Our data is shared with expert organizations in accordance with our transparency principle. We guide our production processes within the framework of Higg Index criteria and aim to increase the positive contribution we make to both our employees and the environment.

Turning Sunshine into Electricity

We are determined to shape the future of our company as nature friendly.

That's why we built a solar power plant under the roof of Okan and included investing in sustainable energy resources in our plans.

Sustainability

Sustainability can be called the ability to be permanent. The meaning of ecology is to ensure the continuity of the diversity and productivity of biological systems.
